

Intermezzo

Lexington, MA
July 2009
Circulation: 283,000

Intermezzo
Fine Interludes in Food, Wine, Home & Travel

the first course

Corn: not just for polenta anymore

Long-time Intermezzo favorite Lidia Bastianich now has even more to offer than her great recipes, restaurants and cooking shows on PBS. In a partnership with New York specialty food grocer Di Palo, the chef is selling several of her favorite Italian ingredients through her website, including cheeses, pastas, sauces and more. We discovered a new favorite among her choices, 100% corn spaghetti from Le Veneziane. This pasta is suitable for those with wheat or gluten allergies, and is as delicious as traditional wheat pasta. Order at www.lidiasitaly.com.

